FDR ACCUSED OF GUARDING FACTS FROM CONGRESS

Secret Military Report Gave War Department Armament Figures

DANGER TO WORLD CITED

Rep. Engel Cites Cuts In Army Appropriations After Revelation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Rep. Albert Engel, (R) Mich., charged today that President Roosevelt slashed $33 million dollars from Army appropriation requests between 1935 and 1941 while withholding from congress a secret military report warning of Germany's "astounding growth" in the power.

To support his blunt accusation that Mr. Roosevelt "deliberately withheld vital information during the critical pre-war years and deprived our armed forces of much equipment," Engel made public these heretofore secret documents:

1. A confidential report from the U. S. military attaché in Berlin, dated Nov. 1, 1937, advising the war department that Germany then had from 175 to 225 air squadrons, about 2400 planes, an air force of 80,000 to 100,000 men and an aviation industry "amazing" in size. The report signed by Major Truman Smith, mapped German plants locations and detailed estimates of their potential production, with this conclusion:

Huns Gain Strength
"In November 1937 it appears that the development of German air power is a European phenomenon of the first diplomatic importance. The upward movement is still gaining momentum."

2. A war department report to the house appropriations committee dated Feb. 17, 1942 showing that from 1935 to 1941 President Roosevelt cut army requests by $33 million 827 thousand 456 dollars. Congress, Engel said, appropriated 352 million 588 thousand (Continued on Page Two)

BUND ORATOR CONVICTED IN CARLSON CASE

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—German-American bund orator Edwin P. Banta, 73, today faced a possible three-year penitentiary term for conspiring to "frame" a rape charge against Arthur Derounian, who wrote the book "Under Cover" under the pen name of John Roy Carlson.

Banta was convicted yesterday of conspiring with June Kelly, an ex-waitress, to discredit the author, a witness in the Washington sedition trial.

AGRICULTURAL TAX BOOSTED

Need For Fair Buildings To House Prize Stock Cited At Meeting

Common pleas court room was filled Monday night for a public meeting sponsored by the Pickaway County Agricultural Society, Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce in the interest of the agricultural tax to be voted on in the November election.

Russell Palm was chairman of the meeting and the following spoke in favor of the levy for a field house and fairground: F. K. Blair, Dean Golden, J. D. Hummel, Fred Hulise, Harry Briggs, Fred Clark, Robert Colville, Leslie May, Mrs. Paul Adkins and Mrs. Grace Bowman.

They pointed out need for a proper place to show livestock. It was stated that livestock valued at $50,000 was shown at the Junior Fair last week. In 1936 the premium list was $600 and in 1944 it was more than $1,500. In 1934 47 boys and girls participated and in 1944 450 were represented at the fair.

Speakers referred to the danger of showing prize livestock in tents; inadequacy of facilities for showing livestock and for the sale and offered other reasons why a proper place to house the livestock should be secured.

Open discussion was conducted with every one present being given an opportunity to express opinions on the project.

SWEDES REPORT BRITISH TROOPS LAND IN NORWAY

LONDON, Oct. 24—An unconfirmed Swedish report reaching London said today that British troops had landed in Norway. There were no details given of the reported British operations which indicated that Tommies may have been landed in the Nazi-dominated country for a coordinated drive with Soviet forces which have entered Norway from the north.

All that was known immediately concerning British activities was that for weeks the Royal Air Force has been paralyzing Nazi shipping supplying German troops in Norway.

JAPS DRILLING FOR EXPECTED U. S. AIR RAID

FARM TALK CANCELLED

Answer Prepared To Saturday Night Talk Of President

ABOARD DEWEY CAMPAIGN TRAIN ENROUTE TO MINN. EAPOLIS, Oct. 24—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, riding into Minnesota today for another blast at President Roosevelt's foreign policies, will tell a nation-wide radio audience tonight that huge Pre-Pearl Harbor shipments of American scrap iron and oil to Japan constituted a major blunder on the part of the present administration. The Republican presidential nominee, whose Minneapolis speech tonight will be broadcast between 9:30 and 10:00 p. m. (CWT), announced that it will serve to jog President Roosevelt's memory "on large areas of recent history."

He cancelled plans for a farm talk in Minnesota in order to reply, while the matter is fresh, to the President's Saturday night speech on foreign affairs, in which the latter took sharp issue with the Dewey charges that the Roosevelt administration failed to prepare the nation for war.

Memory Questioned
"Mr. Roosevelt, I am afraid, took his history out of context," Gov. Dewey told reporters at a press conference aboard his train. "His memory seems to have failed him on large areas of recent history. So, I'll fill in this gap in my Minneapolis speech."

The GOP nominee said he had intended to make a farm speech tonight, but that he thought he could delay it for a few days "to (Continued on Page Two)

EX-SOLDIER OF KAISER NABBED FOR ESPIONAGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—A one-time captain in Kaiser Wilhelm's World War I army and his Brooklyn-born foster-daughter were under arrest today on charges of espionage.

The New York FBI office said Simon Emil Koedel, 62, and his foster-daughter, Marie Hedwig Koedel, 26, before Pearl Harbor gathered vital shipping information in the New York area as German agents under the direction of Johannes Bischoff, who is now serving a 20-year prison term as a German spy.

Because their alleged activities occurred before the United States entered World War II, they will not face the war-time death sentence for spies. The peace-time espionage act under which they will be tried provides a maximum sentence of 20 years.

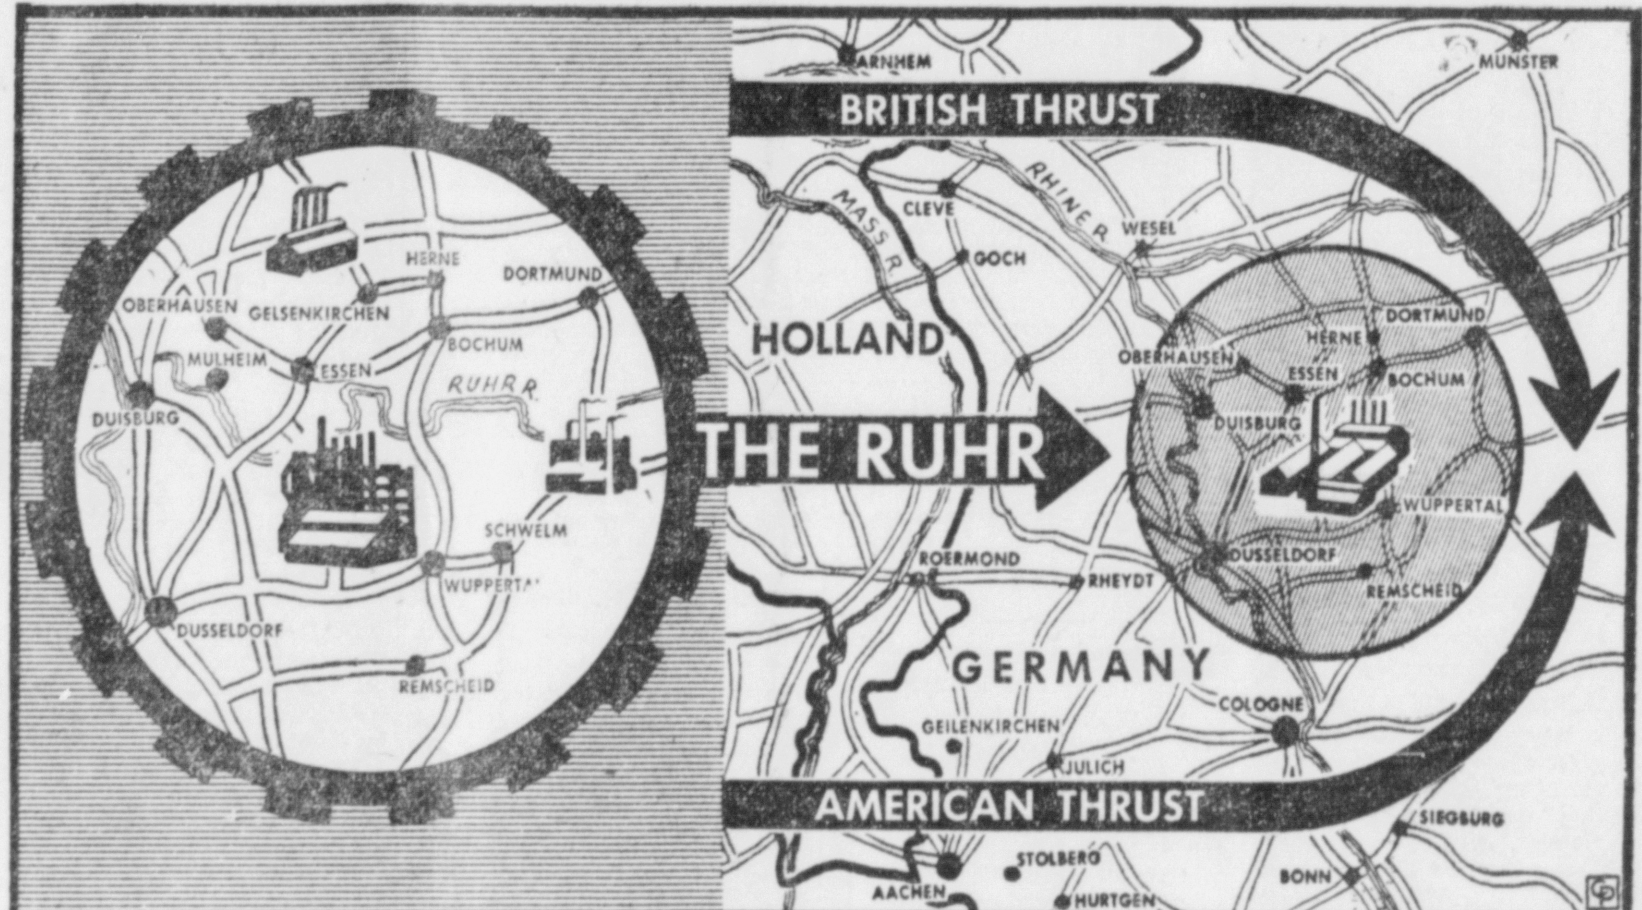

The ex-German Army captain was arrested in Harper's Ferry, W. Va., and Miss Koedel at her foster-mother's apartment in New York.

DOUGHBOYS FIND JAP PROPAGANDA TOPS IN FICTION

CHICAGO, Oct. 24—Tops in literature among the G. I.'s in Eastern China is the propaganda leaflets dropped by Japanese planes.

Mrs. Agnes Regan displayed today some of the leaflets sent her by her son, Sgt. Owen Regan, 27. One of them, which will give New Yorkers a start, showed a picture of New York's skyline and said: "The light that glitters during the night of New York—the sound of jazz, the fragrance of perfume, cocktails and dances, yet, they invite you. Enjoy them now, for the city will be dull very soon. The Japanese will silence it."

PREDICT DRIVE FOR RUHR TO GAIN MOMENTUM

WITH THE CAPTURE of Aachen by U. S. forces, the path is now open for coordinated, twin drives by the Allies to envelop the vital Ruhr industrial region. Bounded roughly by Duisburg, Dusseldorf and Dortmund, the area contains coal mines, factories and plants that are absolutely essential to the Nazi war machine. Germany cannot wage war, state military analysts, without the industries in the Ruhr. Perilling the area

BABY SNIPERS TO FACE COURT

Four German Boys From 8 To 14 Are Nabbed By Yank Gun Crew

WITH THE U. S. FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Oct. 24 — Four German "baby snipers" — boys from eight to 14 who shot at an American artillery crew near the German town of Brand — will be tried by a military court-martial. First Army headquarters announced today.

For the first time an American military court will try children of grammar school age on a charge which carries the death penalty. Their parents may "stand in" for them at the proceedings, but it is the guilt or innocence of these four lads that will be determined.

The four are Hubert, only 10 years old but tough ringleader of the group, and his three brothers—Willy, 14, Bernhard, 12, and Victor, 8. All are now in military custody, charged with firing at the Yank artillerymen and resisting capture with a hail of fire from an American Garand and a German rifle.

All four are members of the Hitler Youth Movement and all four are outstanding examples of "born and bred" Nazis—arrogant, tricky, sub-intelligent, and killers. Hubert. (Continued on Page Two)

BLACK MARKET IN TOYS STIRS OPA TO ACTION

CHICAGO, Oct. 24—Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, said today in opening a drive to stamp out a black market in children's toys that hundreds of dealers were attempting to charge as much as four times the ceiling price chiefly in used wheeled toys. Officials said the situation had become serious in sales of bicycles, tricycles, wagons, doll buggies and sleds at illegally high prices in the Chicago area. Walters reported that a preliminary investigation showed that few retailers of new toys had sought to violate the ceiling prices.

The situation was said to be worst in Chicago and New York.

GENTILE TO WED

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24—Wedding bells will ring November 29 in Columbus for Capt. Don S. Gentile, the Pigua, O., fighter pilot who destroyed 30 Nazi planes, and his childhood sweetheart, Miss Isabella Masdea. The bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Masdea of Columbus, announced the wedding date today. Gentile is now stationed at Wright Field near Dayton.

Halsey Tells Japs He May Go In and Dig Out Hiding Imperial Fleet

WITH ADMIRAL HALSEY IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC, Oct. 21 —(Delayed)—(Via Navy Radio)—Admiral William F. Halsey hurled another derisive taunt today at the imperial Japanese fleet, declaring it wouldn't make any difference now whether it finally comes out to fight or stays in hiding.

"I used to think they would risk a showdown sometime or other—now I'm not so sure," said the two-fisted admiral whose Third Fleet raked everything in sight at Formosa, the Ryukyus and the Philippines in preparation for General Douglas MacArthur's invasion of Leyte.

"We may have to go in and dig them out," said Halsey, who emphatically added:

"If necessary, we'll do just that."

Long known for his salty jibes which sharpen his deep, derisive hatred of the Japs, the fighting admiral frankly admitted that he has been needing the Japs and is glad it has been successful.

He chuckled heartily as he recalled hearing threats against himself over the Tokyo radio. "The Japs are just dumb anyway," he laughed. "They can't think fast without a plan worked out ahead of time and if they get mad they can't think at all. I hope I keep on getting them mad."

Halsey's mighty Third Fleet has flung a veritable seawall of steel around the Philippines in the Navy's all-out support of General MacArthur's land forces.

It was a new demonstration of close-knit teamwork between Pacific high commands. This co-ordinating of forces, an important factor in the success of the Philippines operation, was accomplished without a hitch, and depending on the viewpoint, either disproved the claims of previous dissent or upheld Washington's contention that when the time came, Pacific leaders would work as one.

Hundreds of fleet units in the Navy's Seventh Fleet were placed unquestioningly at General MacArthur's disposal for the giant amphibious task of landing in the Philippines. Surface craft of the Third Fleet as well as planes were (Continued on Page Two)

Dewey Gets Challenge To Repudiate Followers In Isolationist Camp

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24—Sen. Harry S. Truman left in Minneapolis for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to answer in his speech here tonight a challenge that Dewey prove his sincerity by repudiating his "isolationist" supporters.

Sen. Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, declared in a campaign address last night that if the Republican presidential candidate failed to call for the defeat of eight Republican "isolationist" senators, he would be "carrying water on both shoulders."

He charged the Republicans are trying to "blackjack" the American people into electing a President satisfactory to the isolationists, and added:

"Mr. Dewey says he is in favor of a strong foreign policy. I call on him to tell us in Minneapolis whether that was a statement of his sincere convictions or mere campaign oratory as it was with Harding. (Continued on Page Two)

REVOLT FLARES AGAINST RULE OF FRANCO REGIME

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—The northern Spanish province of Catalonia and other parts of Spain are in open revolt against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the radio transmitter at Toulouse, France, used by exiled Spanish Republicans, reported today.

"The supreme junta of the Spanish National Union in Madrid is directing the battle against Franco and beginning to issue communiques," said the broadcast.

Kan Oslo radio broadcast reported by the London News Chronicle said that Spanish Republicans had captured four frontier towns in the Pyrenees after fierce fighting.

The transmitter of the Spanish government, taking cognizance of what it termed recent frontier "incidents provoked by Spanish Reds," expressed concern that the French had not curbed the activities of "war criminals" operating against Spain from across the frontier.

The Toulouse announcer told Spanish listeners that "the time has come for the supreme attack" and urged residents of Catalonia to "help the forces of the glorious guerrilla fighters for the reconquest of Spain."

"Rally Catalan forces, quickly; rally and fight," the Spaniards were urged.

Eight More Towns Fall To MacArthur's Men On Island Of Leyte

BULLETIN
NEW YORK, Oct. 24—Troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's army of Liberation in the Philippines have swept across a narrow strait north of captured Tacloban on Leyte island to stage a new invasion of the island of Samar, the British radio announced today.

Samar is a larger island than Leyte and a key link with Luzon, the largest of all the Philippines where Manila is located. Samar is believed to possess a number of good airfields.

By International News Service
Two widely-separated scenes of Nazi aggression and acquisitiveness rang to the boots of avenging Allied armies today, with Russian armies in the East and Anglo-American forces in the west gouging ever deeper into the home defenses of Germany.

The Russians, slashing to the Angerapp river 35 miles inside the border of East Prussia, stopped long enough to take possession of Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's vast hunting lodge, appropriated in the high-flying Nazi days from an impoverished Junkers nobleman.

And in the west, British and Canadian troops forced an entry into the Dutch city of Hertogenbosch, capital of the province of North Brabant and for centuries a citadel of Netherlands strength.

British troops which stormed into the northeastern outskirts of the city at 2 o'clock this morning found themselves in an extensive municipality which has a peace-time population of 45,000. It lies at the confluence of two small rivers—the Dommel and the Aa—and is connected with the river Meuse by the canalized Dieze river. It is the hub of a vast railway system and therefore one of the most important interior Dutch cities still in German hands.

German reports themselves placed the Russians at the Angerapp river, and Moscow said that violent enemy resistance had failed to halt the fast-moving Third White Russian Army pressing the attack on an 87-mile front.

Latest dispatches said the Soviets had straddled the major railway connecting Koenigsberg with Kovno, while the town of Interburg, a vital communication center, was the obvious initial objective of the offensive. Loss of Interburg will leave the Germans hard-pressed to defend Koenigsberg, capital and chief port of East Prussia, whose capture in turn will clear the way for a drive through Danzig, across the one-time Polish corridor and into Pomerania.

SEVEN DIE IN FIRE AT PLANT IN CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 24—A flash fire which swept the fourth-floor plant of the Cincinnati Pencil Company today had cost the lives of seven persons and injured 10 others, three critically.

According to Fire Chief Barney J. Houston, the fire broke out in an elevator shaft and spread rapidly to the fourth floor. He said it was probable the blaze was fed by highly volatile lacquers used in stamping pencils.

FDR ACCUSED OF GUARDING FACTS FROM CONGRESS

685 dollars more than the President asked.

from the war department several years ago in his official capacity as a member of the war department subcommittee of the house appropriations committee.

Obtains Record

He said he obtained a copy of the arm appropriations breakdown from the house committee safe where it was locked up for 2 1/2 years "despite desperate efforts" by Rep. Clarence Cannon (D) Mo., chairman, to prevent it. Engel challenged Cannon to make this official memorandum public shortly before congress began its election recess.

His publication of the previously "restricted" report on German air strength was frankly intended to bolster Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's charge that the Roosevelt administration failed to prepare the nation for war.

Engel called the military attaché's report "one of the most amazing and detailed reports on the growth of German air power and the rising menace to America ever to come from an American military attaché."

"This intelligence report," he said, "gave detailed information in grave warnings to this country, but not one word of its contents was ever revealed to the congress."

Warning Sounded

"While President Roosevelt had insisted warnings of grave potentialities of German war strength, he was holding down the requests for funds, and now blames congress for the failure to provide equipment for the Army."

"When our military attaché in Berlin reported that 'Germany is once more a world power in the air,' just what did President Roosevelt do? He reduced the war department's requested appropriation by 40 million dollars for the following year. He continued reductions in the years prior to Pearl Harbor."

The Michigan Republican who has been termed the "one-man investigating committee of congress," released photo-copies of the official 1937 document which is identified on its face as "M. I. D. report 15,540."

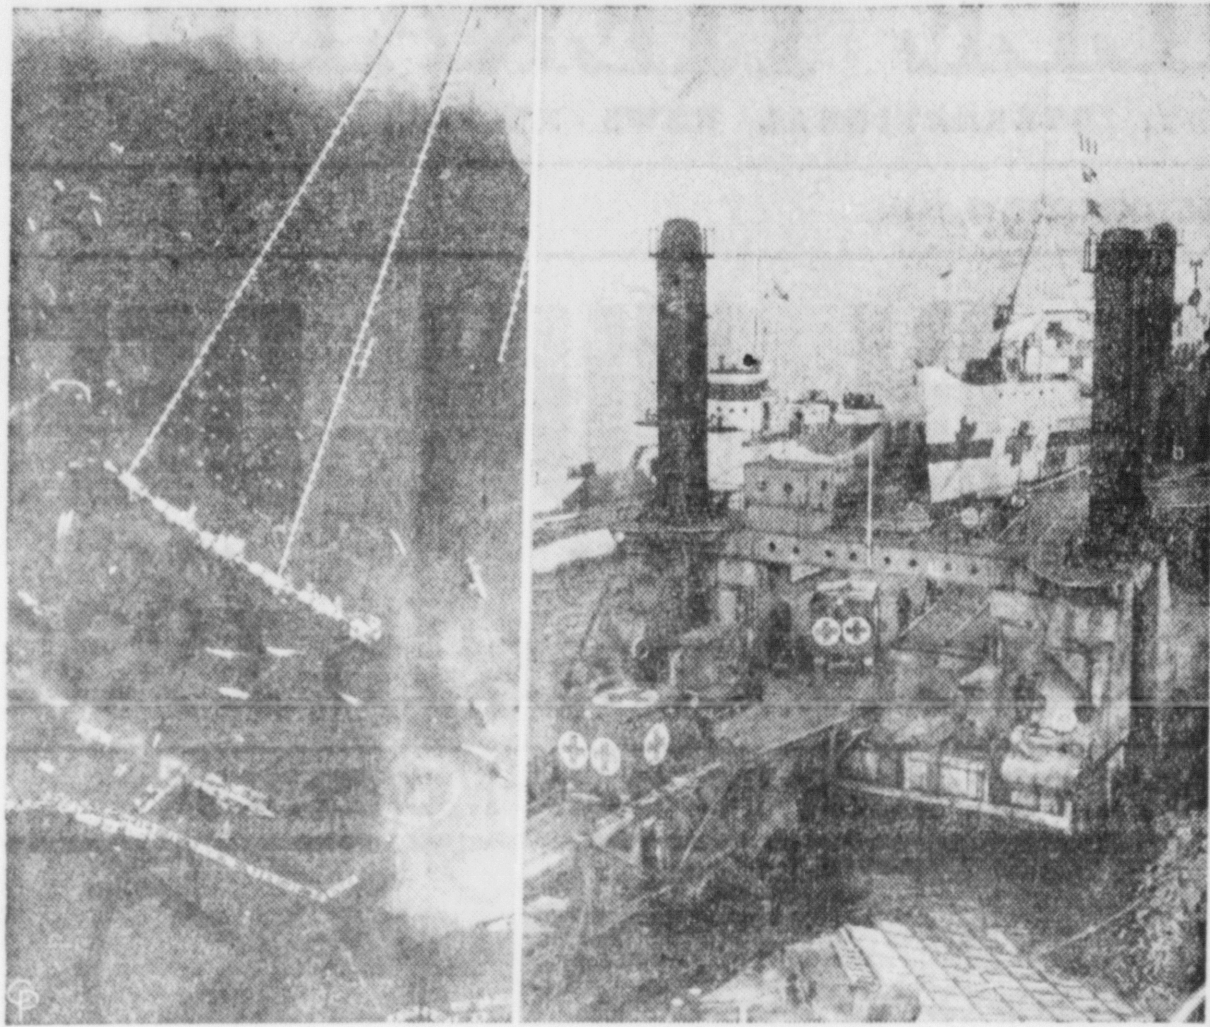

Big Plane Production

In the military attaché stated that the size of the German air industry "forces the foreigner—and even the American who is accustomed to think in big terms—to pause, ponder and wonder as to the future." He reported that Germany then had 23 known airplane concerns with 46 identified plants with a potential annual plane production of "probably 6,000 planes."

Germany is once more a world power in the air," the report said. "Her air force and her air industry have emerged from the kindergarten stage. Full manhood will not be reached for three years."

"The astounding growth of German air power from a zero level to its present status in a brief four years must be accounted one of the most important world events of our time. What it portends for Europe is something no one today

UNION LEADER REFUSES TO PAY PAC; LOSES JOB

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—Complaints that Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committee is high-pressure labor union members for $1 payments to help re-elect Roosevelt, arose again today when a voluntary Dollar-for-Dewey movement was formed by a resentful union leader.

Anthony Capasso, chief steward for the Brass Workers Union (CIO) Bridgeport, Conn., reported to Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national chairman that he was suspended from his steward's duties at the Bridgeport Brass Co. after he refused to donate to the PAC cause. He added that the date of his suspension hearing had been set "curiously enough" for November 8, the day after election.

Capasso in describing the Dewey movement to the chairman said that more than 400 members of his union are ready to contribute to it and illustrate the PAC technique he pointed out that his suspension as steward also included his removal as union representative of the United War Fund Committee.

Brownell told Capasso: "I am happy to have you, and other members who feel as you do, with us in this campaign. Your perfectly natural resentment against the high-pressure tactics of the PAC is being reflected in many unions and in many states."

can foretell and must be left as a problem for future historians."

Engel noted that the military attaché "emphasized and re-emphasized the importance of his detailed report." He called attention to this portion of the report:

"If any foreign country feels self-satisfied in the matter of the superiority of its training, it will receive a rude awakening in the not too distant future."

Engel held that "those words have been borne out." The administration, he said, "continued to daily, the President cut requests for appropriations year after year until, overtaken by his mistakes, he now insists on charging his own faults against congress."

TRUMAN POSES VITAL QUESTION

ing when he made a similar statement in 1920.

"If Mr. Dewey meant it he would ask for the election of a senate that would support a strong foreign policy and the defeat of the eight isolationists who were nominated by the Republicans."

Truman named as the "three most extreme isolationists" Senators Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, and added the names of James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, John Danaher of Connecticut, Clyde Reed of Kansas, Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, and Eugene Millikin of Colorado.

"The Democratic party cleansed itself of isolationists in the primaries," Truman said, "but the Republicans on the other hand like their isolationists. They renominated them and those isolationists are running on the same ticket with Mr. Dewey. He has not repudiated them or the isolationist press that supports him and them."

"Let us ask Mr. Dewey to call on the American people to elect to the senate and the house men who will support him if he tries to carry out a strong foreign policy."

Truman expressed his gratification that Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R) of Minnesota had declared he would vote for President Roosevelt for a fourth term and said he thought maybe Ball had been a Democrat right along, "but didn't know it."

Referring to John Foster Dulles, Mr. Dewey's advisor on foreign affairs, as "that America Firster," he declared Dulles "had the audacity to tell you that if you re-elected Roosevelt, the Republican members of the senate foreign relations committee probably would not support a world peace program drawn up by him (Mr. Roosevelt)."

He declared this statement an attempt to "blackjack" the American people into electing as President a man "satisfactory to the isolationists."

miles west of the East Prussian boundary, was firmly in Soviet hands and Moscow was able to report that "exceptionally heavy losses" have been dealt to the Nazi defenders.

Big Push On

It was clear that another of Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin's monumental offensives had begun, with field command in the hands of 37-year old Gen. Ivan D. Chermakovsky, one of the most brilliant tank officers in the Russian officer corps.

Other Soviet forces moving at the same time neared the city of Memel on the Baltic, which already is completely surrounded. New gains also were recorded in Lithuania, Northern Transylvania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Except for the gains in Central Holland, few changes were reported from the western front. German defenders of Metz and the Belfort Gap opened up with gigantic artillery reminiscent of the "Big Berthas" of First World War days but achieved no serious dislocation of the American Third and Seventh Army fronts. Mopping-up continued east of conquered Aachen.

Cold In Italy

In Italy, Allied troops fought their way northward slowly and painfully against stubborn enemy resistance, their task complicated by onset of bleak, chill weather.

Far out in the Pacific, however, events moved with lightning speed in the recently-invaded Philippine islands.

Eight more towns on the island of Leyte were liberated and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's trained and seasoned fighters progressed steadily along the entire front. An advance of three miles beyond captured Tacloban was recorded and the Japanese continued to retreat toward the north. All enemy counterattacks, apparently designed as holding actions, were repulsed and nowhere was the American advance retarded.

Allied aerial armies were active everywhere. Sweeping raids were carried out in the Pacific in support of the Philippine action, while in Europe, more than a thousand planes attacked German munitions plants at Essen and other craft blasted widespread targets in the Reich, Czechoslovakia and Northern Italy.

dedicated to his use as long as he needed them.

Although some details are still military secrets, it is now possible to reveal how this cooperation with MacArthur helped speed the Philippine invasion. More than a month ago in early September, Halsey and Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's carrier fliers ripped the Philippines from end to end. Reports from returning fliers built up a picture of extremely weak and disorganized Jap defenses. Halsey immediately conveyed this information to MacArthur.

The entire power of the fleet was offered to the Southwest Pacific commander as soon as he determined the attack could be staged. Everything was pushed ahead, even faster than believed possible. Ships from the Central Pacific routed south in droves. Previously assigned to exclusive operations of the commander in chief, Pacific Fleet, they were temporarily transferred to MacArthur's command.

By working day and night, D-Day for Leyte at last advanced from the previous earliest designated date.

The natives of the Samoa islands named Robert Louis Stevenson "Tusitala," meaning "teller of tales."

Wife Preservers

Hubert, stocky and blond and dressed in a blue suit with suspenders and a black Nazi cap, shot a glance at the M. P. and laughed abruptly.

"I know what he's laughing at," the soldier said. "I brought him a coat this morning because his cell was darned cold. He threw it in my face."

Willy, biggest of the four, has a close-cropped head. He has a husky, harsh voice and no hesitation in stating that he learned how to use firearms in the Hitler Jugend.

The two youngest brothers are small for their age, but cocky. All four are unbelievable to American eyes. They are a product of Hitler that is going to be with us long after the smoke of battle has lifted in Europe.

The parents of these brothers are weeping martyrs to a cause they obviously believe just. Hitler has done a thorough job here.

fill in the context Mr. Roosevelt forgot to fill in Saturday night."

One of the items of "recent history" Gov. Dewey intends to dwell upon is the shipping of scrap iron and oil to a nation already plotting the sneak attack at Pearl Harbor.

In Ball Territory

The Dewey speech in Minnesota, first of his campaign in the Middle West, follows announcement by Republican Senator Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota that he will support President Roosevelt because he prefers the latter's foreign policies to those of Gov. Dewey.

Democratic leaders hope enough so-called independents will follow Ball's example to carry Minnesota and several other close states for President Roosevelt, but Gov. Dewey is said to be confident he can prevent such a development through the medium of his speech tonight.

When and where the farm speech will be given is not known, but it probably will be delayed until after Gov. Dewey completes his present tour with a talk at Chicago tomorrow night.

Soon after his return to Albany Thursday afternoon, the governor is expected to issue a call for a special session of the legislature, probably for Monday, to extend the voting hours in New York City, where the registration is heavy.

CHARGE WITHDRAWN

Charges had been withdrawn Tuesday against Robert Leroy, 23, Springfield, accused of burglary. Moore was arrested in Springfield and returned here Monday by police. He was accused of breaking into a trailer belonging to his father, Charles Moore, here with a fair concession, and stealing $14 in dimes Saturday night. The father withdrew the charges and paid the costs in the case, Chief McCrady said.

Bill isn't sitting this war out —
AND NEITHER AM I!

It's your war, too. Help win it.
Serve your country as a WAVE

Nobody can afford to sit this one out. The men you know are already in it—flying the planes, manning the ships, firing the guns that are smashing the Nazis and Japs. Deep down in your heart, you know you want to be in it, too. And you can, if you're between the ages of 20 and 36. You can get off the sidelines and get into uniform—as a WAVE. You can fill a vital, man-size shore job that keeps the men of the Navy fighting and winning.

In the WAVES you'll be just as much a part of the Navy as any man in Navy blue. You'll hold the same ratings, earn the same pay—maybe more than you're earning now. You need no special experience to join. Navy training takes care of that. First, you get six weeks at recruit school. Then you'll be ready for advanced training, or assignment to duty at important Naval stations throughout the U.S.A. Your post may be in radio, aviation, storekeeping, hospital corps, communications—dozens of other fields. But whatever it is, it will be important—and so will you. For you will belong to that proud crew of women in Navy blue who are proving they can handle a man's job as well as the men they replace. And you'll have the heart-warming satisfaction of knowing that Navy men all over the world are fighting better because you're "pulling an oar" back home!

A PLEDGE KEPT
THE present engagement of an American army to drive the intrusive Japs out of the Philippines is the story of a great and honorable nation keeping its word. The United States had inherited the Philippine problem from the Spanish-American war, nearly half a century ago. In taking over the islands as an incident of that war, this nation pledged itself voluntarily to free the Philippines in due time. Meanwhile it set about to develop the captured oriental colonies so that they would eventually be able to take care of themselves.
The rest of the world smiled incredulously at the idea of any first-class power voluntarily giving up a rich and useful territory coming so naturally into its possession. But the government at Washington set a date, and went calmly ahead with the schooling of the Filipinos for independence. When the present difficulties arose in that area, and the islands were seized by Japan, the inhabitants had received an American education, had made considerable industrial progress, and were almost ready to shift for themselves.
A less conscientious nation, beset with world troubles, might have abandoned them in the crisis. Instead, the United States engaged in a very difficult and costly campaign to drive the Japs out of the islands. Under the valiant leadership of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who had made his own personal pledge along with the government's and who loved the Filipinos as if they were his own children, that pledge is now in process of fulfillment. The world can see for itself how the United States makes war and keeps promises.

LOOKS AND TELEVISION
THE radio is supposed to have revolutionized politics. President Roosevelt happens to be the most conspicuous example of a successful political career in which radio has played a large part. Had it been in existence earlier, some say that Bryan would have won the presidency in the free silver campaign of 1896, and President Wilson would not have broken down in his efforts to carry the League of Nations to the people.
What will television do? Will it make good looks an essential requirement for a presidential candidate? If so, future Lincolns and Wilsons will be impossible, and the country will be worse off. Movie stars are not to be despised, but it takes other qualities to make a president.

Nazi Hostage Threat to Be Ignored by Allies? Many Congressmen Visit London for Quick Study
Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—Adolf Hitler's trump card in seeking soft armistice terms will be one of the oldest and most nefarious tricks in warfare—bargaining with hostages.
With millions of subject peoples and war prisoners now in Germany, Hitler has managed to grab some of Europe's most influential persons for his scheme.
Foremost among these is King Leopold of Belgium, who was taken prisoner when the Belgian right flank collapsed in 1940, thus paving the way for the British defeat at Dunkerque.
Lesser lights include scores of city officials, government leaders, industrialists and intellectuals from France, Italy, the Low Countries, Poland, Norway and Czechoslovakia.
The use of hostages is prohibited by the Geneva convention, but it generally is expected that Hitler will flout this agreement when it serves his purpose. Military observers, however, are agreed that the Allies will ignore whatever threats Hitler may make in connection with the hostages.
NOW THAT CONGRESS IS IN RECESS, an increasing number of congressmen are invading England at the invitation of the British government. Both Democrats and Republicans have taken advantage of a British offer to be flown to England whenever plane seats are available.
Once there, however, the Americans pay their own expenses and, usually, their passage home.
At one time recently there were a dozen congressmen in London. Six of them returned together by boat.
Some stay for a few days, others for a longer time. Most take

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Happy five-year-old Johnny Boettiger has been hearing a lot of campaign talk around the White House, where he lives while his father is in the army. Little Johnny, grandson of the President, is the son of FDR's only daughter, Anna Boettiger.
The other day, toward the end of a family lunch at which politics was being discussed, little Johnny perked up his ears, turned to his mother and asked:
"Mama, if Mr. Dewey is elected, will he be my granddaddy too?"

TANGLED SENATOR
Capitol reporters milled about outside the locked door of the Senate Campaign Expenditure Committee. Inside, the committee was trying to decide whether it should investigate the battle of the Statler. Fireworks were expected.
Actually, however, the secret session was a very quiet matter. Major part of the hour and a half was taken up by the Michigan Senator Homer Ferguson's careful perusal of the large file of affidavits the committee had collected on the Statler battle. Whereas, other members merely glanced through the affidavits hurriedly, Ferguson did not miss a word.
When he finished, the Michigan Senator, a former Detroit circuit judge, demanded a public hearing, but was outvoted four to one, with his Republican colleague, Joe Ball of Minnesota, joining the majority. The four other members of the committee insisted that an open hearing on the matter would be bad for Navy morale and prestige.
After the vote was taken, there was a brief discussion of the entire incident, with Senator Tom Stewart of Tennessee remarking that he hoped members of the committee wouldn't go out speaking on the matter.
"As I recall," said Stewart, with a sly grin toward Ball, who has been worrying the Republicans by his refusal to support Dewey, "Joe, here, has a few speeches scheduled."

LOCAL REPUBLICAN REVOLTS
Regardless of how they feel about Roosevelt and Dewey, several state elections are attracting attention because local Republicans refuse to vote for their own candidates. Here are some of the G. O. P. rebellions:
ILLINOIS—(1) Where many Republicans are turning thumbs down on weak-kneed senatorial candidate Richard J. Lyons and have openly come out for Democratic Senator, Scott Lucas, who has had an outstanding record in Congress. Some Republican leaders have even organized a committee to boost Lucas against Lyons.
ILLINOIS—(2) Where many Republicans can't stomach G. O. P. Representative-at-large Stephen Day, the congressman who sent a telegram of congratulations to Hitler after he came into power in 1933, and later wrote a book published by the Nazi-subsidized publishing house, Flanders Hall. Day is being opposed by Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, daughter of sculptor Loreda Taft and wife of Professor Paul Douglas, now with the Marines in the South Pacific.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
WE ARE living in a nervous age and are bound to be so for some time. We are also living in an age of new inventions, improvements, introduction of all sorts of new drugs and foods, to say nothing of substitutes for drugs and substances with which we were familiar enough to know the faults.
Someone comes along with a brand new sleeping drug or cold cure or sulfa-drug mixture for triple infections somewhere. Well, they put you to sleep all right, or kill off the infection and everybody is very enthusiastic about them and slathers them around in shovelful quantities and then some day somebody who takes some doesn't wake up or he breaks out with a rash all over his body, or he goes blind and everybody thinks it's very queer: that such a nice new drug should do such hostile things. Nobody seems to put it down to making new acquaintances too fast, without quite knowing what kind of people they are.
I haven't kept up lately with the very latest drinking-parlor technique, but from what I learn from the present war rum rounds rum is really the right name. Rum, the demon rum, used to be bandied around as a scare word by the temperance lecturers, but it never scared any of the real old toppers like my Uncle Johnny who used to lay his hand on his heart and look a temperance lecturer right in the eye and say he never drank a drop of rum in his life.
Causes of Amblyopia
Whiskey and gin and beer and brandy and champagne and port and sherry were good enough for him. But new rum has come back and with it strange colored drinks of all kinds from the Argentine and South Africa and Turkey, to say nothing of some purely domestic products, made maybe out of sunflower seeds. These concoctions line the liquor store shelves. Then there are lots of young

SYNOPSIS
When Drue Cable, attractive young nurse, learned her former husband, Craig Brent, was the victim of a so-called accidental bullet, she persuaded her friend and fellow nurse, Sarah Keate, to answer with her the call made by Dr. Claud Chivory from a small New England town. Sarah was unaware of Drue's previous connection with the Brent family which included Craig's father, Conrad; Alexia, Conrad's glamorous young wife who, at one time, had hoped to marry Craig; Nicky Senour, Alexia's twin brother; and Peter Hub, friend of Craig, Anna Hub, maid at the Brent mansion, told how Craig was found in the garden the previous night, adding, "Beevens, the butler, said it was an accident—Mr. Craig was cleaning a gun." Alexia ordered Drue to leave before Conrad Brent discovered her presence. Drue told Sarah the strange story of her romance with Craig. They had married more than a year ago and Conrad Brent made no effort to conceal his disapproval. Craig's work in the diplomatic service summoned him to Washington, and Drue returned to New York. Shortly after, she received a letter from Conrad (which he claimed Craig had asked him to write) stating his son had resigned to enter training as an aviator, only to discover married men were ineligible. Conrad said Craig wished Drue to divorce him, but promised they could remarry, with paternal blessing, when the training period was over. Drue got the divorce but never received any reply to the letters she wrote Craig. Now, she is determined not to leave until Craig regains consciousness and can talk with her. Dr. Chivory tells the state trooper investigating the shooting, that the bullet he removed from Craig's shoulder was accidentally thrown away; the gun, too, is missing. He warns Sarah not to repeat anything the patient might say in delirium. Later, Craig mumbles something about "yellow gloves." From the window, Sarah sees Drue disappear behind a hedge in the garden and emerge later with something hidden beneath her cape. A few minutes later she enters the sick room, ready for duty. Sarah is telling the story.
CHAPTER NINE
Young Brent moved a little and spoke again. He said, "But that's murder. Tell Claud. There'll be murder done."
He said it clearly, imperatively, with complete, forceful conviction. He was drugged and did not know what he was saying. At least, I sincerely hoped he didn't know.
But Drue cried, "Craig!" in a sharp whisper. "Craig—what do you mean?"
She waited and I waited, but he didn't move, or speak.
"Delirium," I said finally.
"Delirium?" She seemed to weigh it, still watching him fixedly, and to arrive at some secret rejection. "Why would he say that? If it's delirium."
"Why wouldn't he?" My voice was still a little high. "They say anything in delirium. Who's Claud?"
"That's Dr. Chivory. The Chivorys are very close friends."
It didn't help much; if there was any remote and fantastic grain of truth in Craig Brent's words, which Heaven forbid, Dr. Chivory wasn't the man to do anything decisive and prohibitive about it.

Drue was leaning over the bed again. "Craig." Her voice was low, but clear and urgent. "What do you mean? What murder?" After a long pause, she said, "Who?"
There was no answer.
"He spoke in delirium," I repeated more positively. "If there was going to be a murder, I don't think the murderer would take anybody into his confidence beforehand. It isn't done."
She turned that over in her mind and looked at me. "No. You're right, of course. It was silly of me to think of anything else. There isn't any change, is there?"
I shook my head and just then the door opened again.
A man, the butler, I thought, stood there. He was big, enormous, those intelligent, light-blue eyes and led me to a door with carved, dark wood panels which looked extremely thick. Just as we reached it, it opened and a woman came out. She was very small and dark with deadblack hair, done in a high pompadour after the fashion of thirty years ago; she wore a white starched blouse (the kind that used to be called a shirtwaist and had a starched stock collar) and a very full black skirt which all but touched the floor. She had a tiny waist with a big belt and extravagantly curved hips. On one shoulder a watch was pinned and she smelled of violet sachet. She wore pince-nez, rimless, with a gold chain fastened to a gold button on her other shoulder. She must have been fifty or more; it was difficult to tell. Altogether she was

In appearance, Maud Chivory was a page out of the past.
Page out of the past.
But the thing I noticed mainly was the bright, inquisitive way her dark eyes peered out of her small, sallow face. She gave a short kind of nod and went on and petticoats rustled as she crossed the marble floor. Otherwise, however, Maud Chivory moved with an utter and complete silence which never ceased to astonish me. "Music of The Negro" Monday Club Subject

Ohioana Session
Reported By Attendants

"Music of The Negro" was the theme of the excellent program presented Monday by the music division of the Monday club in the club room, Memorial hall. During the brief business hour in charge of Mrs. Lemuel Weldon, president, Miss Alice Ada May, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson and Mrs. John W. Eshelman were named members of the International Relations committee. Miss Margaret Rooney gave an informative talk on the three-mill levy for the benefit of the public schools, to be voted on at the coming election.

Reports of the recent meeting of the Ohioana Library association were made by Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson and Mrs. R. B. Bates. Miss Nell Weldon, an honorary member of the Monday club, was presented a War Bond at the association meeting for securing the largest number of new members in the smaller communities of the state.

"The Negro in Melody" was the title of the paper presented by Mrs. David Harman. She opened her discussion by saying that the origin of the songs of the Negro is a matter of much discussion, one suggestion being that it is African, that the slaves brought their songs with them in the slave ships. When they learned the language of their masters, they adopted their songs to English words. In comparing the music of the African savage to that of the American Negro, it is found that the pentatonic scale is common to both, as is also the tendency to syncopation.

Others think that few of the Negro songs and spirituals belong to the colored man, they are merely his version of songs he has heard from revivalists and missionaries. Yet the Negro has certainly improved these songs musically.

Whatever their origin, they are as rich and colorful, as melodious as the folk songs of any nation. The dialect of the older songs, of the slaves, is purer than that of the present-day Negro song. Some of these were composed by Negro preachers, others by the slaves themselves, some were first sung by "Mammies" and while they have a vivid word portrayal, many would seem expressionless if it were not for the dialect.

The foremost composer of spirituals was Harry Burleigh, who composed or arranged over three hundred songs and spirituals. The most famous is "Deep River". Burleigh had a fine baritone voice and his singing of spirituals was a source of inspiration for the "New World Symphony". Burleigh won the post of soloist at St. George Episcopal church with the large Manhattan choir against fifty-nine other applicants, all white.

Following Mrs. Harman's interesting paper, the music division presented the program. The Monday club chorus sang two numbers, "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel" and "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jerico," both by Noble Cain; Negro spirituals, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I See", J. Rosamund Johnson, and "Little Wheel a Turnin' In My Heart", William Arms Fisher, Miss Marvline Hennessey; "Deep River", Burleigh, and "Standin' in the Need of Prayer", Mrs. James P. Moffitt; "Were You There?", Hugo Frey, and "Listen to the Angels Shoutin'", Hugo Frey, Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh; piano selections, "Group of Spirituals", and "Prelude" (Night), Mrs. Martin Cromley; vocal selections, "Can't Stay Away" and "Gonna Ride Up in De Chariot", Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Defenbaugh, the Monday club trio; "Heav'n Heav'n", "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", both by Burleigh, and "Listen to the Lambs", R. N. Dett, closing selections by the Monday club chorus.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bolender, of Columbus, who were honored Sunday at a family celebration of their Golden Wedding anniversary, were married October 25, 1894, in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church, not in the St. Philip's Episcopal church as mentioned previously.

Youth Fellowship
Youth Fellowship of the Methodist church held its regular meeting with Dona Lee Merriman in charge of the devotionals. Mrs. Edgar Blake as guest speaker talked to the young people on "Religion and Public Education." Plans were completed for the booth festival to be held Saturday in the local church. Ten church groups of the surrounding communities will participate. It is asked that the donations of canned food be sent to the church by Friday.

Surprise Birthday Party
Karl Brown, Washington township, was honored at a birthday dinner Sunday at his home where members of the family gathered for a surprise affair.

PIN-WORMS

Now can be Beaten!

The misery of Pin-Worms has been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body. Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the real distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms. So watch for possible warning signs such as itching rectum and nose, urinary stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully. It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

SIX TEAMS LOSE FIRST CONTESTS

Zanesville, Mansfield, Lorain
Drop From Unbeaten
Ohio List

COLUMBUS, Oct. 24—At least a half dozen teams went down to defeat for the first time last week as Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Columbus North and Lakewood continued to set the tempo for Ohio's nearly 450 scholastic football teams.

Heading the list of first time losers were Mansfield, Lorain and Zanesville.

The state's longest winning streak—17 straight triumphs extended over a three-year period—went into discard as Lorain dropped a 14-0 decision to unbeaten, untied, defense-conscious Lakewood. Unbeaten since Oct. 1, 1942, the classy Steelers had won five in a row up to Friday night.

But Mansfield was an even bigger loser. The Tigers suffered their first setback in six starts, bowing 6-0 to Massillon. The Tigers totaled nine first downs and 189 yards to Massillon's four first downs and 115 yards.

Zanesville, which previously was held to a 13-13 tie by Dover, suffered its first defeat in losing to Coshocton, 6-0, in a game which weighed heavily in the final Central Ohio league standings. A 67-yard first quarter touchdown sprint by John (Deacon) Gross, veteran Redskin captain and half-back, was the only score of the game. Coshocton is undefeated but tied once in six games.

Other teams to lose for the first time included Columbus Rosary, Urbana and Lima St. Rose. Rosary lost to St. Mary of Columbus, 26-6; Fostoria St. Wendelin nosed out undefeated and unscored upon Lima St. Rose, 9-7; and Urbana lost to Columbus St. Charles, 13-0. Meanwhile, other Ohio clubs experienced little or no difficulty at all in extending their victory strings to five and six games. Columbus North, Lakewood, Martins Ferry, Toledo Libbey, Middletown, Youngstown East, Ada, Richmond and Canton Township made it six in a row with scintillating week-end victories. Circleville, Loudonville, Ashland, Philo, St. Mary, Pandora and Cleveland Cathedral Latin counted five victories.

The week's No. 1 individual scoring performance was Benny Battist's 33-point making spurge as Canton township forged to its sixth victory—a 47-0 whitewashing of Canal Fulton. Battist tallied five touchdowns and added three extra points from placement.

Following right on his heels was John Clark, who registered five touchdowns and two extra points in Paulding's 52-2 win over Lima Shawnee. And Dick Armstrong, of Loudonville, pushed across five touchdowns in the Red Birds' 47-14 victory over Rittman.

The Youngstown-Ursuline-Youngstown Chaney battle produced a couple of records for the week. Ursuline piled up 11 first downs while blanking Chaney in this department but oddly enough Chaney won, 6-0. The winning tally came on an 88-yard dash by Martin Kollar, which, incidentally, was the week's longest run.

Another first down quirk was recorded in the Dover-Lancaster game. Dover accumulated 14 firsts to one for Lancaster but was forced to go until the last five minutes before nosing out a 7-6 victory.

Mt. Gilead's Indians, in setting back Centerburg, 21-12, celebrated the first Indian victory in two years, and Bowling Green posted its first 1944 win in beating Napoleon, 7-0.

LUCKMAN WILL NOT PLAY WITH BROOKLYN TIGERS

CHICAGO, Oct. 24—Ralph Brizzolara, general manager of the Chicago Bears, denied published reports today that the Brooklyn Tigers were seeking to get the services of Sid Luckman, an ensign in the maritime service, for the remainder of the season.

"This is all news to me," said Brizzolara. "We haven't been contacted. You can rest assured that Sid will not be lent, sold or traded to Brooklyn. As for the Bears, we're letting him alone to do his duty."

TIGERS TO PLAY THURSDAY NIGHT AT GREENFIELD

First Road Trip Will Find
Locals Meeting Another
Unbeaten Team

Circleville high school Tigers Tuesday were rushing preparations for the big test of the 1944 grid-iron season.

Thursday night the Tigers make their first road trip of the season to meet the toughest team they have been called on to meet since they started their 1944 campaign.

At Greenfield the Tigers will bump into another team of Tigers, also undefeated this season. The two teams have defeated Wilmington, regarded as one of the strong teams of the league until two consecutive losses, by almost the same score. Greenfield won 21-0 over the Hurricane and last week the local Tigers splashed through mud to win 19-0.

The game Thursday will determine which team will lead the South Central Ohio league this fall. A defeat for either probably will knock out their chances of winning the loop title because both teams will have almost completed their season after the game. Circleville has only one more league game, with Washington C. H., the bottom team of the circuit.

The game this week was set for Friday night but moved up to Thursday night because of the teachers' meeting to be held Friday and Saturday in Columbus.

BUCKS START PRACTICE FOR MINNESOTA TILT

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24—Between 50,000 and 55,000 persons—or roughly 20,000 less than saw last week's Ohio State-Great Lakes classic—are expected Saturday when the Buckeyes resume Western Conference competition against Minnesota's Golden Gophers. Henry Taylor, director of Ohio State ticket sales, said today.

Meanwhile, the undefeated and united Bucks were hard at work in preparation for the crucial Minnesota contest. There was no let up at all in the Ohio camp yesterday. The squad inspected movies of the Great Lakes game, studied scouting reports on previous Minnesota games and went through a brief contact drill.

Tackle Bill Willis, Ohio's leading lineman candidate for All-American honors, and Capt. Gordon Appleby passed up the outdoor workout in favor of a session with Trainer Ernie Beggs. Willis reported that his leg injured in the Wisconsin game two weeks ago was improved considerably. Appleby suffered knee and ankle injuries against the Sailors.

Warren Amling, the Pana, Ill., youth who is proving a mighty valuable replacement in the Buck forward wall, replaced Willis in the first string line-up and Chuck Renner, of Akron, filled in for Appleby at center.

Earlier in the day, Head Coach Carroll C. Widdees and assistants Paul Bixler and Ernie Godfrey warned Capital City scribes to be on the lookout for Wayne (Red) Williams, who runs, punts and passes for the Gophers. Godfrey said he was near the equal of Ohio's Les Horvath, and Bixler, who saw Minnesota against the Iowa Seahawks, likened the red-head to Dean Sensenbaur, Ohio's great front star of last season, now playing with the Army.

Widdees disclosed that he may give Dike Willis, Appleby, and Freshman Quarterback Tom Keane, of Bellaire, a much needed rest this week. Unless it is absolutely necessary, he said all three would see only a little action against the Gophers.

Keane, who is suffering from a touchy knee, will be replaced by Bob Dove, of Ashland. Widdees said Dove may be assigned to handle all of the Bucks' kicking chores. Rated as an excellent "spot" punter, Dove will be especially valuable in offsetting the Gophers' vaunted punt-return menace.

The new nearly extinct Carolina parakeet of the United States, is the only member of the species native to the temperate zone. Most parrots inhabit the tropics.

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Folia in music magazines indicate that Frankie Carle is the outstanding new bandleader to win recognition alongside the veteran top names this season. Maestro Carle, also an ace pianist, will demonstrate his ivory technique as a guest on the Kate Smith program Sunday. The drama spot will be filled by that film sophisticate, Mary Astor.

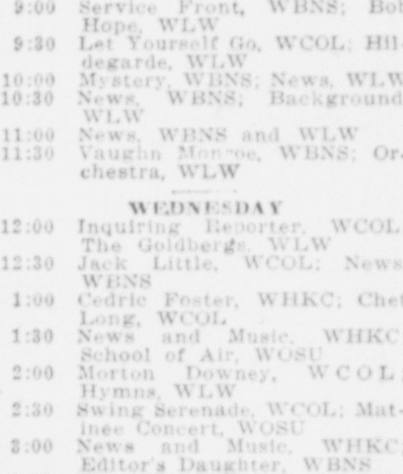

Dick Jones, radio's "Henry Aldrich," is the quarterback spark plug of the Hackley "Hackers," the prep school football team currently undefeated in interscholastic competition. As a result of his smart play making, Dick's been offered athletic scholarships to two universities. He's turned them down, however, since he'll matriculate at Dartmouth this Fall.

Andy Devine, the "Melody Roundup" emcee, is not one of your ersatz cowboys, to whom "range" means nothing more than a place on which one cooks food. Andy was born and reared in Kingman, Arizona, deep in the heart of the cattle country, where he now owns a 3,000-acre ranch. He also acts as his own foreman and cattle agent.

Fannie Hurst, whose short stories are dramatized each Saturday morning is almost as well known for her championship of better housing conditions as she is for her writing. Miss Hurst's interest in the project began when she was amassing background material for a novel of New York's slum districts. She was Chairman of the Women's National Commission for two years and is now actively engaged in post-war planning.

Mickey Rooney, in uniform, and several of his Army friends paid an unexpected visit to Milton Berle's "Let Yourself Go" broadcast the other night. Rooney, Berle and Hal Block, the gag writer, went into a long joke conference after the broadcast. Mickey offered the latest gags that are making the rounds of the Army camps—and in return he received a host of new jokes and comedy material from Berle and Company with which to entertain his buddies.

Annual County Junior Fair Attended By Financial Success

40,316 TICKETS ARE SOLD FOR CARNIVAL RIDES

Crowd In Attendance On Closing Night Of Show Estimated At 16,000

A total of 40,316 tickets for rides were bought during the 1944 Junior Fair, Treasurer Robert G. Colville reported Tuesday.

The fair committee's share of the rides was $1,424.98, $19 more than the 1943 profit, Mr. Colville said. The total number of tickets sold was slightly more than last year.

Most popular ride was the merry-go-round with 11,238 tickets sold. State share of taxes on rides was $179.99. Federal taxes have not been determined.

Saturday night was the biggest night from an attendance standpoint. The crowd was estimated at 16,000 persons. Despite the fact that Friday's rain cut attendance total attendance was estimated at 27,000 persons.

Although all bills have not yet been received the fair is assured of being a financial success, Mr. Colville said. Estimated expenses are quite a bit under the receipts from the fair, he said.

The livestock part of the fair was the most successful in history, those in charge said. Better livestock than in previous years was shown and the sale Friday night was most successful ever staged. Prices were higher and buyers from many markets were present.

WAR INJURIES CAUSE DEATH OF HOYT G. TOOTLE

Private Hoyt G. Tootle, 32, who had been reported wounded in action in France, September 20, died on that day as the result of his injuries, according to word from the War Department received by his mother, Mrs. Will Metzger, Williamsport Route 1.

Pvt. Tootle was born in Pickaway township, Pickaway county, June 14, 1912, and spent most of his life in Ross county. He attended school at Mona Chapel and New Albany. Before entering service on March 28, 1942, he was employed in Chillicothe at a dry-cleaning establishment.

In addition to his wife, the former Frances Snow, and mother, he is survived by a son, Roger Philip, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Adrian, of Chillicothe; one brother, Robert, of Logan, and a half-sister, Miss Virginia Metzger, of the home.

JOHN STUCKEY AGAIN WOUNDED FIGHTING HUNS

Sgt. John F. Stuckey has again been wounded in action, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Stuckey, Route 1, Circleville.

A war department telegram received Monday informed his parents that Sgt. Stuckey had been slightly wounded in action October 1 in France.

September 13, 1943, Sgt. Stuckey was seriously wounded at Salerno. After he had recovered he returned to action and last Winter had his feet frozen at Cassino.

Sgt. Stuckey entered the Army February 19, 1942 and has been overseas since March, 1943.

PENNSYLVANIA — Where many Republicans are organizing against G. O. P. Congressman Wolfenden in the Eighth District. For many years this district, which includes suburban Philadelphia, was represented by the father of Gen. Smedley Butler, who as Chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, helped build up the U. S. Navy. Now Eighth District Republicans are represented by a man whom no one has ever heard of in Congress and who went duck-shooting on the day U. S. declared war against Germany. Many GOPers therefore are now working for Democratic candidate Lieutenant Vernon O'Rourke, a former Swarthmore college professor now in Italy.

SPECIAL NEW SERVICE

While Governor Dewey was campaigning in St. Louis, recently, his host was unassuming Republican Governor Forrest Donnell, now running for the Senate. Donnell is as unimpressive-looking as any man in public life.

Before Dewey appeared on the stage for the mass meeting, Donnell entered, unannounced, unapplauded, took a seat at the side of the stage. Shortly thereafter a Catholic priest delivered the invocation, whereupon a harried newspaperman in the Dewey entourage leaned over the press section and stage-whispered to Donnell:

"Hey, you, hop up and get me the name of the father who delivered the invocation!"

The Governor of Missouri meekly obeyed. He got to his feet, went over and brought back the information to the correspondent.

Several minutes later, Donnell rose again, was introduced to the
